DOWN BY THE BROOK.

Down by the brook went Effie and I,
Down by the brook 'neath the forest trees,
When the air with the breath of flowers was sweet,
And the long grass swayed in the summer breeze,
The brooklet danced in the sunbeams bright,
And hummed its own sweet song of glee,
While over our heads the merry birds
Were filling the air with melody.

Ah me! I wonder if ever now
Her thoughts go back to that dear old time?
When under the trees alone we sat,
Hearing the ripples' dreamy rhyme?
And dipping her hand in the waters bright,
How lovely she with the ripples played!
And the dimples hid in her rosy, fair cheek
As I watched her there 'neath the old trees' shade.

Alas for the vows we plighted then!
Her heart was fickle, and mine was strong:
The love she gave me that summer day
Lasted only the summer long!
Down by the brook, 'neath the grand old trees,
Effie and I no more may go,
And only the birds in their nests
Shall hark to the ripples' dreamy flow.

—[Mrs. M. D. BRINE, in Harper's Magazine for July.]

What's-his-name?

[From Scribner's Monthly.]

MR. EDITOR:—There are more than a thousand million people in the world, and each one of them has a name. Of course, nobody is acquainted with all these people, but everybody knows a great many of them. I, for instance, am acquainted with—say a hundred persons. One hundred persons and one hundred names. Now, how, at a moment's notice, is a man of average memory to get all these names and these people to fit? I can't do it.

I meet a man in the street. I know his face very well. That's easy enough. He carries it in a conspicuous place. But how about his name? Pen to one I can't remember it, why should I? There's nothing about him to suggest it. If there was any system of nomenclature which should correspond with personal appearance it would help matters. If all the fat persons were named Jones, all the lean ones Brown, all the tall folks Robinson, and the short ones Thompson; if people with jumbo-jaws were named Ferguson, and hooked-nose persons were all called Ramsey, a great part of the difficulty I speak of would be removed.

You might not know just which Brown or Robinson a man was, but you could come near enough, and such a thing as totally forgetting the names of two of your friends just as you are going to introduce them would be less likely to happen than it now is. Why, I'd rather risk calling by name a rare plant in a flower-pot than one of my friends who has suddenly come upon me.

I might pull up a stick from the flower-pot and see that the plant was anonymus monarchi, but there's nothing sticking out of my friend to remind me that his name is Samuel B. Wilson.

It is one of the saddest things in life that there is absolutely no way to find out a friend's name, when you are alone with him and have forgotten it. You can't ask a man, when you have eaten at his table, and slept with him, and perhaps gone to his grandmother's funeral, what his name is! And those indirect, zig-zag ways of trying to coax his name out of him seldom amount to anything. "By the way," you say after a violent mental process of "a, a, a; b, b, b; c, c, Cox, Campbell,—no; d, d, d; e, Emerson; f, f, f;—etc., etc.), "how do you spell your name?" And ten to one, he says, "With two Ts." And then after a frantic struggle in your mind with Tuttle, Tuttle, Tottle, and almost anything else with three Ts, you mildly smile and say, "Oh yes! certainly," and remember the name the instant your friend is gone. There are plenty of stratagems of this kind, but where is the good of them? I never could see it.

Why it's often easier to tell the name of every bone and muscle in a man's body than to remember the name of the man himself. There is generally a reason for naming a bone, and if you've once heard if you may remember it, but there's no reason at all for people's names. I never saw a man or woman who looked in the least like his or her name.

Now, there should be some way to remedy this social wrong—for it is a wrong to conceal one's identity, so to speak, by cutting off all means of recognition except that which depends on the memory of one's friends. The law should be called in. We are obliged to put numbers on our houses where everybody can see them, and why not put names on the dwellers in the houses. In fact, every man should have his name placed in some conspicuous place on his person. This plan was suggested to me by a friend, and I am sure it would work well. For instance, what could be more ornamental, as well as useful, than a breast-pin with one's name on it? Or, if people preferred a permanent arrangement, the old fashion of tattooing in India ink might be revived, and put to some practical use. Such lettering would last a long time.

In case of ladies (for I would apply this system to both sexes) it might be necessary, owing to occasionally change of name, to leave room for alteration when this method of marking was adopted. But when a more simple plan is desired, nothing is more easy than to put a man's name on some part of his clothing. For instance, shirts are generally marked. Now, why not mark them where one can see not only to whom the shirt belongs, but who belongs to the shirt?

One thing is certain, something of this kind must be done, even if a "what's-his-name" plank has to be inserted in one of the political platforms. There's no earthly good in universal suffrage, or anti-popery, or local option, or wooden pavements, or anything else, when you can't remember the name of the man you're talking to. Yours truly,

ANDREW SCOGGIN.

HIGH FEEDING ONLY WILL PAY.—A correspondent writes: Our graziers are beginning to learn that they will soon be driven out of the field as feeders, if they continue to undertake to compete with the coarse Texas cattle of the South and the vagabond grass-fed steers of the Western plains. The best feeders in our state have already adopted the practice of buying grade Durhams, and the higher the grade the better, and if full blood, so much the better, and if full into them all they can eat from the very start, and selling them at two or between two and three years. In summer, blue grass and timothy, clover and standing corn; in the winter, corn in the shock and corn in the ear, corn-meal and oil-meal, sheaf oats and the best hay the richest fields will yield—such is the bill of fare provided. Grade steers, so pushed, make a gross weight of from 1,300 to 1,600 at the age named, and sell from seven cents to eight cents, while equally, but scrubby raw-bone, bring not more than four cents. As ordinarily fed, our prairie cattle getting ready for market, lose the fat and flesh, and everything but the mere bone and frame-growth of two summers. The calf in good condition at the first of September is a skeleton at a year old. He has gained flesh during the summer, to be reduced again the second Winter, and is finally sold, after he has gained three and lost two suits of fat and flesh. This style of feeding is about at an end; and so it is with hogs. It is recognized that in order to be profitable, they must be sold at nine and twelve months, instead of at eighteen and twenty-four.

In Kentucky I understand, about the only profitable business now pursued on the high-priced land, is feeding mules and breeding fine horses, sheep and hogs. The mules colts are bought in the fall, at home as largely as possible, and abroad across the river in Ohio and Indiana, from $40 to $75 being paid for the best mule colts. The colts are placed on their highly cultivated, high-priced, rich lands, and are pushed with all the art and skill the experience of half a century has gained, until they are sold in the spring they are two years old. The animals so fed are never allowed to get hungry, never wet, never thirsty, and their appetite is never suffered to be cloyed. The market for them is on the cotton plantations of the South, where they bring from $100 to $200 the pair, according to the quality and the market. If we should feed cattle and hogs and mules as they ought to be fed, there would be few things better than corn and oats.

Principles of breeding.

The National Live Stock Journal says, "scientific investigation and research have established the following propositions as true, in the transmission of animal life in all its varieties.

1. Like produces like or the likeness of some ancestor.

2. When there is great uniformity among the members of a species, the divergencies of offspring from the average type are usually small.

3. When a considerable divergence has once been established, unlikeness among the offspring is frequent and great.

4. Any accidental variation from the established type in the form, disposition, or habits of a species, may be perpetuated, and to a limited extent, intensified, by careful selection and use.

5. An unnatural strain or demand on any particular part of the animal machinery, long continued, tends to weaken or dwarf all the other parts not allied to the one so stimulated.

6. Hereditary qualities are liable to be weakened, if not entirely lost, by disuse.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC,

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS,

Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption.

Sometimes medicines that will stop a cough will effect a cure, because the death of the patient. It locks up the fever, stops the circulation of the blood; hemorrhage follows, and in fact, destroys the action of the urinary organs that caused the cough.

Liver complaint and dyspepsia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of consumption. Many are now complaining with a dull pain in the side, the bowels sometimes costive and sometimes too loose, tongue coated, pain in the left shoulder blade, feeling sometimes very restless, and often a dizziness; the food that is eaten lies heavily on the stomach, accompanied by acidity and belching of wind. The symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver. Persons so affected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and the cough in these cases be suddenly stopped, the lungs, liver and stomach clog, and remain torpid and inactive, and before the patient is aware of his situation, the tissues are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, and death is the inevitable result.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain any opium, nor anything calculated to check a cough suddenly.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juice of the stomach, digests easily, nourishes the system and creates a healthy circulation of the blood. When the 3 medicines are taken, skin sallow, and the patient is of a bilious habit, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required.

These medicines are prepared by Dr. J. H. SCHENCK & SON, Northeast corner of Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, Pa., and for sale by GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover street, Boston, and John F. Henry, 8 College Place, New York, Wholesale Agents.

For sale by Druggists generally.

TCESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1873.

Newport and Saratoga.

[Correspondence of the Ballston Spa Democrat.]

Two or three of the most delightful days of my absence were passed at Newport. On arriving we found a carriage awaiting us and a pleasant drive of two and a half miles to the charming suburban residence of our host—which is situated on the avenue but a few minutes walk from the ocean. The scene seemed almost like Fairy-land, as we drove slowly through the avenue, lined on either side with tasteful villas in every variety of style, with their large lawns and abundant shrubbery far removed from all the hurry, toil and traffic of the town.

The attention being divided between these and the stylish equipages with their richly dressed occupants, which throng the street for an hour or two every afternoon. There was old age represented, placid and peaceful, dignified middle age—youth and beauty—though less of the latter than one would expect to see. A sweet little girl of our party, with the unconsciousness of childhood, in mated to herself "Jesus loves me" sounding strangely incongruous in the brilliant scene around us, full of the pomps and vanities of life.

Saratoga, I think, can bear no comparison to Newport. The perfection of quiet beauty rests here—for has it not the ocean!—the grandest bass for all its lighter music!—I saw it by moonlight—standing on its shores where its waves almost laved my feet—its salt spray touched my face. I drank in its pure breath and felt it free, braver, stronger. No sermon from the tongue or pen of man, I think, ever comes to the human heart with such convincing power of God's majesty and omnipotence—that so sweeps every shadow of skepticism, as this voice of God in one of his mightiest works.

As the waves hied down upon the shore our spirits instinctively bow with humility and adoration believing that at least, good will be evolved from all earth's seeming wrong.

My stay at Newport was necessarily so brief that I failed to enjoy half its points of interest—but I will say to all your readers, who in the future may desire to travel for health or pleasure go to Newport.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

Diamond Spectacles.

THESE SPECTACLES are manufactured from "NATURE CRYSTAL PEBBLES" melted together, and so called Diamond on account of their hardness and brilliancy. It is well known that spectacles cut from Brazilian or Scotch pebbles are very injurious to the eye, because of their polarity of light. Having been tested with the polariscope, the diamond lens is found to have been found to admit fifteen per cent. less heat rays than any other pebble. They are ground with great accuracy, are free from a dramatic abberations and prismatic. Lengthsome and distinctness of vision not before attained in spectacles.

Manufactured by the Spencer Optical Manufacturing Comp New York. For sale by responsible agents in every city in the Union. H. A. HEATH & Co., Jewelers and Opticians, are sole Agents for Newport, R. In the most powerful cleanser, strengthener and remover of Glandular Obstructions known to Medical Science.

It is specially adapted to constitutions "worn down" and debilitated by the warm weather of Spring and Summer, when the blood is not in active circulation, consequently gathering impurities from sluggishness and imperfect action of the secretive organs, and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches, Boils, Pustules, Scrofula, &c., &c.

When weary and languid from overwork, and dullness, drowsiness and inertia take the place of energy and vigor, the use in small doses as a Tonic to build it up and help the Vital Forces to regain their recuperative power.

In the heat of Summer, frequently the Liver and Spleen do not properly perform their functions; the Uterine and Urinary Organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach and intestines and a prolific position to bilious derangement.

DR. WELLS'

EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

is prepared directly from the SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT, and is peculiarly suited to all those difficulties. It will cleanse the VITIATED BLOOD, strengthen the LIFE-GIVING POWERS, and REMOVE ALL OBSTRUCTIONS from IMPAIRED AND ENFEEBLED Organs.

NOTICE.

A prominent New York physician lately complained to DUNDAS DICK, about his SANDALWOOD OIL CAPSULES, stating that sometimes they caused nauseatedness, but that a patient of his had taken them without effect. On being informed that several imitations were sold he inquired and found his patient had not been taking DUNDAS DICK & CO'S.

What happened to this physician may have happened to others, and DUNDAS DICK & CO. take this method of producing physicians, druggists and themselves, and preventing OIL OF SANDALWOOD from coming into disrepute.

PHYSICIANS who prescribe the Capsules will continue to do so, for they contain the pure OIL in the best and cheapest form.

DUNDAS DICK & CO. use more OIL OF SANDALWOOD than all the Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Perfumers in the U. S. combined, and this is the sole reason why the pure OIL is sold cheaper in their Capsules than in any other form.

OIL OF SANDALWOOD is fast superseding every other remedy, sixty Capsules only being required to insure a safe and certain cure in six or eight days. From no other medicine can this result be had.

Dick's Soft Capsules solve the problem long considered by eminent physicians, of how to avoid the nausea and disgust experienced in swallowing, which are well known to detract from, if not destroy, the good effects of many valuable remedies.

Soft Capsules are put up in tin-foil and neat boxes, Only by Druggists, and are the only Capsules prescribed by Physicians.

TASTELESS Medicines. Castor Oil and many other nauseous medicines can be taken easily and safely in DUNDAS DICK & CO.'S SOFT CAPSULES. No Waste. No Smell.

Saving over the Central route..... 70 miles.

Saving over the Erie route..... 38 miles.

This difference of distance in favor of the Midland route must always enable it to compete with the other lines advantageously as to freight, and ought to give it a larger share of the passengers than any other line. The early completion of the Western Extension, from Sandy Centre to Buffalo, is ensured by the subscriptions of capitalists to a syndicate formed to purchase $5,000,000 of Bonds from the Company. The syndicate has guaranteed to advance further means, if wanted, to complete this Road. We offer for a short time, New York and Oswego Midland Railway Co.'s First Mortgage seven per cent. Gold Bonds, Western Extension, at 87 1-2 and accrued interest in currency.

We are sole agents for selling Jersey City & Albany Railroad Company's 7 per cent. Gold Bonds at 102 and interest in currency. This road is now in operation from Jersey City to Tappantown, a distance of twenty four miles. Nine miles further are graded, on which iron is being laid. The road will be completed to Haverstraw within a year. These Bonds are only issued on COMPLETED ROAD.

A specialty will be made of the Stock and Bonds of the following Companies: New York & Oswego Midland Railway Company, New Jersey Midland Railway Company, Montclair Railway Company, and Jersey City & Albany Railroad Company. We have now on hand a limited supply of these Bonds.

All Bonds and Stocks known in this market will be bought and sold, for cash, on orders from investors or dealers. We Solicit Permanent Correspondents and Agents for the sale of these securities.

Iron in the Blood

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.
